It is the aim of the governors of Beaumont, together with the staff, that the school's ethos, curriculum and activities should give to all pupils a broad and balanced education which helps them:

to develop as a whole person to enhance their confidence, self awareness, self-esteem and sense of individual purpose to develop personal moral values and positive attitudes, and acquire knowledge, skills and understanding, for life and work to think independently, rationally and creatively and to enquire and question constructively to be inspired towards a life long enthusiasm for further learning to apply themselves to tasks, working alone and with others to gain an understanding of the world in which we live and a concern for the environment to appreciate human achievements and aspirations to become co-operating and contributing members of school and society, prepared to take and accept responsibility to develop sensitivity, respect and tolerance towards others to benefit from and contribute to the development of equal opportunities to be happy at school and to succeed to the best of their abilities, academically, spiritually and physically by providing access for all to a broad, balanced and stimulating curriculum by providing high quality learning opportunities and raising standards of achievement in all subjects and especially modern foreign languages and the use of ICT by developing an understanding of our world: celebrating cultural diversity and promoting a concern for the environment by building a community both locally and globally: working and sharing with others — our school, consortium, business, community and international partners by inspiring a life-long enthusiasm for learning.

All members of the Beaumont community – the school, the pupils and their parent(s) or carer(s) – have a part to play in achieving these aims. This home-school agreement sets out the contribution which each party is expected to make.

The basic principles of the agreement are that:

- . The school should provide the highest possible quality of teaching and of learning and will always seek to improve further, in consultation and partnership with parents and pupils
- . The pupil should learn to the best of his/her ability
- . The parent(s) or carer(s) should support their child to the best of their capability
